Welcome to the CSU Pre-Vet Club

Welcome to CSU’s Pre-Vet Club! My name is Jaclyn McCoy and I am this year’s President. I’m so excited for this coming school year, and can’t wait to meet you all!

CSU is all about community, and I love the Pre-Vet Club because it’s a community of people who share the same passion! By joining with people who share a love of science and animals, we are able to support each other and work together to achieve our goals. The Club is an amazing way to get involved, get inspired, and make friends!

This year is the third year I’ve been involved in the Club, and every day I love it more. I remember coming to Freshman Orientation and knowing right away I wanted to be a part of Pre-Vet Club. Throughout my college career the Club has had a huge impact on my life goals and continually motivates me. From listening to veterinarians speak at general meetings to visiting the Vet-Teaching Hospital and talking to vet students, I always walk away more sure I want to be a veterinarian.

As President this year I want to help students get involved and feel welcome in the Club. My hope is that the Pre-Vet community will become stronger and closer. I can’t tell you enough how excited I am to meet everyone!

Please feel free to email me if you have any questions, comments, or just want to introduce yourself! Enjoy your summer and I will see you at our first meeting! — Jaclyn McCoy, President

Advice for new students: Go out and take the opportunity to make connections in the community. Also, be sure to make time to study for classes, because tests can sneak up on you.
Each year in October, the CSU Pre-Vet Club hosts Pre-Vet Day for CSU students that are interested in the field of veterinary medicine. This day long event involves hands-on activities, labs, and guest speakers that are involved in different parts of the industry.

Last year, about 200 students attended Pre-Vet Day and were able to participate in labs about large animal alternative medicine, exotic species, animal handling, and more. Also, our guest lecturers discussed topics such as nutrition, ambulatory veterinary medicine, zoo medicine, and equine sports medicine.

In addition to the many exciting and educational lectures and labs, Pre-Vet Day also included a Veterinary Student Panel, which consisted of veterinary students, who were currently enrolled in CSU’s College of Veterinary Medicine. Students were able to ask these future veterinarians any questions that they had about the application process for veterinary school, what veterinary school is really like, and for advice that these students had to give to aspiring veterinarians.

This year, Pre-Vet Day will be held on October 11th at CSU, from 9:00 am to 4:20 pm. Mark your calendars for a day of fun and excitement.
Every month the CSU Pre-Vet Club hosts activities and events to help get students involved in the community and the field of veterinary medicine.

The CSU Pre-Vet Club also hosts monthly meetings on campus where speakers from related industries come in and discuss their jobs, research, and current events in the field of veterinary medicine.

Last year, the Club went on tours of CSU’s Equine Reproduction Laboratory, the Veterinary Teaching Hospital, and a local dairy farm. In addition they participated in community service activities such as CSUnity, the Doggie Olympics, the Hearts and Horses Gala, and many more.

Also the Club hosts parties before winter and summer break, to recognize members who have been active in club activities and events, and also to allow the club to come together once more before break.

Another activity that the Club hosts is the CSU Pre-Vet Club’s shadowing program each spring. This activity allows students to shadow local veterinarians in their clinic for the day, and to learn more about specific fields of veterinary medicine.
